

What Does Autism Look Like?

- Sensory sensitivities (e.g., covering ears)
- Unusual eye contact
- Repetitive motor movements (e.g. rocking, hand flapping)
- Atypical speech or lack of speech
- Delayed responses
- Challenges with social interactions
- May not feel cold or pain in a typical manner
- Impaired sense of danger: may wander to water, traffic, etc.
- May not recognize First Responders as helpers

Remember: Autism is a spectrum and each individual is unique.

Sensory Sensitivities

- Avoid whistles and other loud noises
- Speak quietly

Visual Supports

- Use pictures to explain
- Write step-by-step lists

Communication

- One person talking at a time
- Calm tone
- Short, simple phrases
- Give time to respond

Physical Guidance

- Avoid touch if possible
- Move slowly

Searching

- Collaborate with caregiver
- Search water first
- May not respond to name
- May hide if frightened
- Call out topics of interest (e.g. character names) or offer preferred items (toys or food)

First-Then

- Use "First-then" to create incentive.
- E.g. "First, walk with me for 5 minutes. Then play a game on my phone." (Use 5-minute timer on phone)
